Recently, in my work helping teams to learn and implement Scrum, I have deliberately not been using diagrams. Having participants create their own ways of describing Scrum based on their own understanding is often a much more powerful approach to learning than showing them a diagram. If you give someone a map, they tend to â€! Continue reading â€œMeet: Scrumâ€•, the Diagram â†’

For a little while last year I was using a quiz in my Certified ScrumMaster courses that was deliberately designed to be super hard. Why? Because if anyone could answer it correctly before the end of the class, I would give them their certification early and allow them to leave. Not a single person out of â€!
